Some of their clients include Chick-fil-A, Auburn University, Kimberly-Clark, Cobb County Government, and many others. A highlight for them was helping train 20,000 Guatemalan Leaders with John Maxwell to kick-off a nationwide cultural transformation initiative in 2013.

About Top Story Leadership

Mack and Ria have an amazing story of professional growth, personal growth, and transformation. Mack began his career working on the front lines of a machine shop while Ria started hers in healthcare administration, after overcoming years of abuse. Working in completely different industries, they both began to apply leadership principles to their respective careers with incredible results personally and professionally and developed a passion for leadership.

They founded Top Story Leadership, and offer motivational speaking, leadership development training, coaching, and consulting. Their clients include Chick-fil-A, Auburn University, Koch Industries, and Kimberly-Clark. Together Mack and Ria are now creating and living the life they want, rather than the life they were given.
